WHY THE TREATY FAILED

Only one Democratic newspaper of prominence, the New York Times, espoused President Woodrow Wilson's attitude on the League of Nations to the end.

All the other big Democratic newspapers including the New York World and the Louisville Courier-Journal as well as the pro-administration New York Post, in the final analysis, earnestly advocated a compromise and the acceptance, if necessary to ratification, of the treaty as modified, safeguarded and Americanized by the Lodge reservations.

"Twenty-one Democrats Desert Wilson" is a significant headline in the New York World in chronicling the final vote of the United States Senate.

Two additional Democratic Senators were paired against the President and one in favor of his covenant.

Thus in the ultimate test, is disclosed by the vote, one-half of the Democratic membership of the Senate courageously refused to subordinate their patriotic conviction to the White House will and aligned themselves with the Republicans.

But the result, on its face, does not tell the whole story.

Editorially charging Senator Lodge chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations with killing the treaty and ascribing to him the basest motives of partisianship, the New York Times is confuted in its own news columns.

Witness the following from the Times Washington correspondent in its issue of March 20:

"There is no substantial reason for doubting that practically all of the Democratic Senators would have welcomed an opportunity today to vote for ratification with the Lodge reservations without facing the charge of having deserted the President and wrecking the party."

Twenty-one Democratic Senators actually deserted President Wilson, as emphasized by the New York World and "practically all" according to the New York Times, would have voted for the Lodge reservations but for fear of wrecking the Democratic Party!

In other words, accepting the information furnished by Woodrow Wilson's foremost newspaper champion the New York Times, theentire body of Democratic Senators—or "practically all"—would have "welcomed an opportunity to vote for ratification with the Lodge reservations." and so demonstrated their Americanism, but dared not break with the White House.

Standing by the President, not because they believe in his covenant of the League of Nations, but through fear and at the cost of their honest convictions—putting president and party above country—the twenty-three Democratic Senators who were thus held in line, encompassed the defeat of the Americanized treaty. Otherwise it would have been ratified overwhelmingly.

And these facts in the premises are provided by the President's chief spokesman and champion—the New York Times.

Twelve Republican senators, it is true, voted nay because they opposed the principles involved. They, at least had the courage of their conviction.

THE OLDEST SENATORS

The new Senator from Alabama, appointed successor of the late John W. Bankhead, has a name—Braxton Bragg Comer—that recalls two wars. Braxton Bragg was a North Carolinian who displayed great gallantry at Buena Vista and in consequence came out of the Mexican war a lieutenant colonel. Twelve years later he went into the War of Secession on the Confederate side and soon became a general, succeeding Albert Sidney Johnson after the latter was killed at Shiloh. Senator Braxton Bragg Comer was born in 1848, a year after Buena Vista, and was named after one of the popular heroes of that battle. So the new Senator from Alabama is a veteran in years, going to Washington at the advanced age of seventy-two.

He will not be the only suptuagenarian in the upper chamber, however. The others are Senators Knute Nelson of Minnesota, Smith of Maryland, Page and Dillingham of Vermont, Colt of Rhode Island and Warren of Wyoming. A much larger number of Senators are between sixty and seventy and the House also has a plentiful sprinkling of men of advanced years. The fact that the latest addition to the United States Senate becomes one of a group of the seven old-st members is no indication that he will be a rocker-looker from a comfortable chair. A woman is only as old as she looks, so a man is only as old as he feels. Some men at eighty feel and act mentally if not physically as if they were as young as some men at fifty. If the so-called Osler theory had been announced seriously, its fallacy could have been proved by thousands of examples. A man's age in years is often rendered incredible by his age in state or quality, and it is quite possible for the seventh septuagenarian to be sent to the Senate to become much more than a mere name.

THE UNCHANGED TURK

Turkish officials are manifestly sore for America's friendship. Perhaps they hope for a loan, or possibly they think we are less inclined to be hard on the Turks than Europeans because we did not declare war on them when our Allies did. When the recent massacre at Marash occurred they assured us that all Americans there were perfectly safe, "even their poultry" being respected, and that in consequence they were "drinking their chocolate and enjoying themselves" while the streets were running with Armenian blood and foreigners (except Americans) were in danger. If the American government doubted, let an investigation be made.

Meanwhile the true situation has been revealed in the diary of Rev. C. T. S. Crathern of Boston just published. From this it appears that such safety as the Americans (and their chickens) in Marash enjoyed was due to French troops and such Armenians as were able to secure arms; that the American hospital was bombarded and assaulted, the American flag being fired on; and that American orphange was burned and eighty-five Armenian girls whom it sheltered after they fled from Turkish harems were massacred. Instead of carelessly enjoying themselves, the Americans were nursing the sick and wounded, finding room for desperate refugees and giving shelter to remnants of massacred families. The orgy of blood at Marash shows that even heavy misfortune can not change the Turks. They are the same as of old, no matter how many fair words they may send to London in the hope of keeping Constantinople, or to Washington in the hope of making America a serviceable friend.

BILLIE BURKE IS CHARMING IN "THE MISLEADING WIDOW"

One of themost delightful screen romances ever produced will come to the Coyle Theatre, today, when "The Misleading Widow," a new Paramount-Artcraft picture, starring Billie Burke will be shown. Miss Burke has the role of Betty Taradine, who was married and later deserted by her husband on account of her extravagance, and lives in a big house in a little New England village. Colonel Preedy a wounded army officer, is convalescing at the Taradine house. Betty is besiged by creditors and short of funds, announces that her husband has died in South Africa so that she can collect his life insurance. Complications occur when Captain Rymill, the Colonel's aide and friend, arrives and proves to be none other than the "dead" husband How matters are finally adjusted forms the climax of the story which is ideally suited to the whimsical art of Miss Burke.

Prominent in the supporting cast is the well-known young actor, Jas. L. Crane. Others are Frank Mills, Madeline Clark, Fred Hearn, Frederick Esmelton and Dorothy Waters.

To James E. Anderson, late of Charleroi, Pennsylvania, care of B. & O. R. R.

You arehereby notified that a final rule for divorce has been granted against you at thesuit of Florence Mabel Anderson, your wife, which will be heard in the Court of Common Pleas No. 3 of Philadelphia County Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, of June Term, 1918. No. 409 on Monday the 26th day of April 1920, on which day you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why such divorce should not be granted.

FISHING DEVICE PERMITS ISSUED AFTER APRIL 15

Special fishing device permits will not be issued in Pennsylvania before April 15, according to an announcement made by the Department of Fisheries at Harrisburg on Monday. Under the act of 1919 the commissioner of fisheries is authorized to issue special device permits for outlines, fish baskets, eel racks, gins, spears and other devices. While last year the permits were restricted in the county in which the applicant resided, this year the applicant will be allowed to select the county

HAS NO USE FOR TWO HUNDRED CELLS

Two hundred cells will be torn from the Allengheny county jail; they areno longer needed, it was announced on Monday. In recent years the cells have only been used at intervals, while formerly two or three prisoners were in the same cell at thesametime. The cells are in what is known as thesouth wing of the jail. They once formed "murderer's row," and a number of notorious prisoners were confined in them.

Almost Driven Mad With Rheumatism— Now Entirely Relieved

Mrs Elizabeth Friedman, Woodlawn, N Y. writes "I am entirely cured of Rheumatism Before taking SULFLUID I was arranging to take the Sulphur Baths, as I was almost driven mad with pains. Of course, that trip is now unnecessary I recommend the use of SULFLUID for those who are suffering with rheumatism and am positive that they will receive the same wonderful results as I have"

You can keep on taking medicine all your life for rheumatism, neuritis or lumbago and never get relief There is only one sure relief and that is Hot Sulphur baths

Until SULFLUID was discovered, there was only one way to positively overcome rheumatic conditions, and that was by traveling great distance to the Hot Sulphur Springs. This is no longer necessary, for SULFLUID gives you identically the same results. It is used the same way—as a bath. It is not a patent medicine It is absolutely harmless It will overcome your trouble in almost no time, and if it fails, we will refund your money We are the exclusive distributors in this city for SULFLUID Ask us about it

ASSOCIATED DOCTORS' OFFICES CLOSED BY BOARD OF HEALTH

Were Conducting their Business without Certificate or Diploma

WILL MAKE NO PROSECUTION

The offices of the Associated Doctors at 423 McKean avenue, were closed Monday afternoon by order of the local board of health During the afternoon a letter was received by Health Officer Darby from James Donnelly of theState Department of Health, and calling attention to the fact that the Associated Doctors were operating without a diploma, as required by law, and asked them to make an immediate investigation.

Officer Darby submitted the letter to members of the board, who advised instant action Taking Officer Thompson with him, Mr. Darby went to the offices of the Doctors about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and found two men there, one John Hornick of Braddock and the other who styled himself Dr. [illegible] who gave his address as 703 Fallowfield avenue. Mr. Darby asked for their diplomas, or certificates, but both men said they had neither, whereupon the local health officer took charge of the premises, directed the two men to leave and then locked offices. The keys were later turned over to Mr. Martucci, owner of the property.

The local board will make no prosecution of the case, being satisfied to put a stop to the activities of the "Associated Doctors," but if they would atempt another feat of this kind legal action will follow.

It is said that about a year ago, when the offices were opened, a physician with a diploma was in attendance, but he has not been seen in Charleroi for the past six months. It was the absence of a legally authorized physician to conduct such an office that caused the local officers to take action.

CLUB ARCHITECT ON THE GROUND

Th landscape architect from Chicago who designed and laid out the golf course at the Monongahela Valley Country Club last fall, arrived in Donora last Friday and will remain until the work of planting the lawns is completed, which will probably be some time during the present week. The work of remodeling the old Vanderslice homestead is being speeded up and most of the material necessary for the changes has been secured. The directors of the Club feel that they can have everything ready for the scheduled opening on July 4th, and the architect says the grounds may be played over on that date. The membership list is being extended, and by the time the Club is ready for the entertainment of its members it will have several hundred names on its list.

BIG PRODUCTION OF THE FOSTER WELLS

Six wells of the D. [illegible] Foster group in the McKeesport field produced 706,000,000 feet of gas in February, according to a statement recived by the producers from the gas company on Monday. The big Foster gusher which came in the latter part of August, is now producing between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet daily. The Stewart well is sending approximately 9,000,000 feet of gas through thelines daily. Official figures showing the profits received from the gas by the Foster gusher were made public on Monday. Since the well was brought in it has produced $924,000 worth of gas.

VERDICTS AGAINST UNIONTOWN BANK

Disposition was made on Friday last of four cases of depositors against the defunct First National Bank of Uniontown, two verdicts being given for the plaintiffs, while in the other two voluntary non-suits were taken. The plaintiffs who secured verdicts were also given interest from the 18th day of January 1915, up to the present time.

Of the cases disposed of Elmer Jordon secured a verdict for $1,000 with interest; and John Bushock was also awarded a verdict for $500 with interest as above noted.

Voluntary non-suits were taken in the cases of Joe Yanlack and Jan Fobin.

Jordon claimed thathe placed $1,000 on deposit at interest and after the transaction had been completed his wife called attention to the entry in the bank book, which showed that hehad purchased a $1,000 bond of the Thompson-Connellsville Coke company. In the Buschock case a promisary note executed by F. M. Semans was given bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. In both cases the defendant claimed the transaction was made in good faith, the depositors being told that the bank did not carry asavings department.

On Saturday another verdict was given against the bank, when a jury awarned Henry Cappelini of Masontown $500 with interest, the full amount of his claim. The case was similar to the others, the plaintiff claiming to have placed money at interest in the bank and receiving in return aprimissary note executed by F. M. Semans.

Near East Relief Campaign Will Continue Over Two Days

At a meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. C. Wright, who is chairman of the women's division of the Near East Relief, drive all plans were perfected to begin Wednesday noon and close the campaign Thursday evening. The canvassers will be busy men and women and it is sincerely hoped that everyone will have their subscription ready, so as not to detain them. Make your subscription by cash or check, and make your check payable to Miss Minnie Richardson, the local treasurer. Charleroi must not be selfish. Our good name for generosity is at stake and we must answer thecall for help. Judge Chas. E. Hughes Ambassador Henry Morganthau and Herbert Hoover all say that without America's help thousands who areunderfed and undernourished will perish before another harvest.

JUDGE HALTS CASE OF BROWNSVILLE MAN

The trial of Mike Kovacloc, of Brownsville, in the United States District Court at Erie, arrested by internal revenue agents charged with operating an illicit still at Brownsville, came to an abrupt end on Monday, when Judge Orr dismissed the jury and released the defendant on his own bond.

The court took exceptions to a statement made by Assistant Federal Prosecutor Van Barckman, while arguing points of law, and at the request of S V. Rossiter counsel for the defendant ordered the jury withdrawn. On several occasions during the present session Judge Orr has reprimanded the government prosecutor and threatened to withdraw juris for bringing before juries facts concerning some other case having no bearing on questions at issue.

WILL MAKE ANSWER TO SCHOOL TEACHERS

A meeting of the Donora school board, with all members present, was held last Friday evening, at which time matters of importance were taken up and discussed. The matter of drafting a reply to the petition of the Donora teachers who asked for a 25 per cent raise in salarys of January 1st last, was taken up and a reply framed and approved by the board. The contents were withheld for the time being, and will not be announced until they have been delivered to the teachers' committee which presented the petition. This will be some time this week.

AUTO LICENSES SHOW A BIG INCREASE

Receipts from automobile licenses for 1920 have passed the $4,800,000 mark and gone almost $1,500,000 above the revenue at this time last year, according to the State Highway Department figures. Thus far 315,000 licenses have been issued for pneumatic-tired machines, and almost 20,000 for solid tired machines.

EXPECTS TO SAIL ABOUT MAY FIRST

M. Wikstrom, until recently superintendent of the Monessen plant of the Pittsburg Steel Products company has returned home from a stay at Cambridge Springs and is making preparations to leave for his native country, Sweden as soon as possible. However, he remains in an advisory and active capacity with the plant until the time of his departure, about May 1st.

It is Mr. Wikstrom's intention to associate himself with several leading financial men and engineers in Europe in constructing steel mills to rebuild the devasted countries. He feels the opportunity of his life awaits him in his native land, after all the experience he has gained in this country, and will sail for overseas about May 1st.

CAR THEFT ACT IS STILL VALID

An erroneous impression that persons who steal interstate shipments are no longer answerable in the Federal authorities since the return of the railroads to private owners, was corrected in a statement given out on Monday afternoon by Special United States Attorney Monroe C. List, formerly of the United States Railroad administration. Mr. List pointed out that prosecutions against such violators are brought under the Carlin act, passed February 13, 1913, which among other things makes it a Federal offense to break the seal on a freight car, enter a car with intent to commit larceny, to have unlawful possession of goods stolen from interstate commerce shipments or to remove from one state to another goods so stolen.

Fank Mangan and Miss Gertrude Mangan of McKesport, were callers in town today.

STRANGERS WORK VERY SLICK GAME

Sam Friedman junk dealer, McKean avenue, was the victim of a clever scheme on thepart of two strongers Monday and is out $27.00 as a result of a call from these unexpected visitors.

Shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon two well dressed strangers stopped in front of Friedman's place and apparently were arguing on some subject. Mrs. Friedman, who was in the office at the time seeing the men, came out and asked them as to the argument One of the men said they were discussing as to where they should place a sign. Mrs. Friedman told them it could not be placed in front of the building, when one of the men said they would place it in the rear, and suiting action to the word, started for the rear of the storeroom. Mrs. Friedman followed leaving the other man in the office. After a short time Mrs. Friedman and the man returned to the front of the building, when the two strangers left.

A short time later it was discovered that the men who had been left in the office had robbed the money drawer of $27.00, which he evidently took with him when the visitors left. The police were notified as soon as the robbery was discovered, but the strangers had made their departure and were not to be found in town. The police got a clue which led them to believe the men were in Fayette county, but it proved to be a false alarm and the clever robbers are still at large.

ITALIANS MAY ERECT CHURCH IN MONESSEN

The Italian residents of Monessen held a meeting on Sunday afternoon, at which time the proposition of erecting an Italian Roman Catholic church was discussed. The pastor of the Mother of Sorrows Church of Charleroi was present and outlined the action that would be necessary in order to proceed with the erection of the church building and the establishment of the parish. It is likely the project will be carried through.

Search House in Spite of Protest and Get $150 In Cash

ARRESTS MADE FOR THE CRIME

Three men representing themselves to be revenue officers, made a clean-up in Belle Vernon last Saturday night and got away with $150 from the home of Joseph Katinski. The three men called at the home of Katinski during the evening and saying they were revenue officers, said they were looking for guns and bolsheviki papers. Katinski denied having anything of the kind in the house, but the men insisted on making a search. Katinski and his wife were entertaining some neighbors at the time, the men playing cards and thewomen folk looking on.

In spite of protests the alleged revenue men proceeded to make the search, placing one of their number with a drawn revolver on guard while the other two went up stairs and began toransack the house. In one room they found a boarder in bed, but he was routed out, the bed torn up, and trunks and bureau drawers ransacked. The intruders found $150 and when the boarder strenuously objected, the "revenue" men said, "All-right, we will take you along." and suiting action to the word made the man dress and put him under "arrest." The three men in company with their prisoner then left, but when they got as far as the bridge they turned their prisoner loose and told him to "beat it."

On Sunday this man was in Monessen and saw three men whom he believed had been the visitors the night before. The police were notified and the three men, John Jacobson, Frank Lilja and Wm. Kovista were arrested. At a hearing held Monday morning the prosecutor was able to identify but one of the men, Jacobson, and the hearing was held over until other information could besecured. All of the prisoners are Finlanders.

BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY OF NORTHERN LIGHTS

Charleroi citizens as well as others in the valley enjoyed arare spectacle last night in witnessing one of the most beautiful displays of the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights, ever seen in this section of the country. The phenomena was first observed about 7 o'clock, in the evening and was seen at intervals for several hours. The display was one of great beauty, taking the form of streamers, arches or patches, which varied in shade continually, and exhibited all of the colors of the rainbow, and was watched for hours by admiring hundreds who enjoyed the rare beauty of the beautiful sight.
